

5: Can God Make a Rock So Big He Can't Lift It?

FB: When speaking of God's omnipotence, Christians are not claiming, "God can do anything at all." Instead, omnipotence refers to God's power to do anything which is both consistent with His holy character and logically possible. The "big rock" question asks if God can do something logically impossible. His inability to do such a thing does not count against His power. For example, God cannot make a square circle. So what? It's a nonsense task. Likewise, it is a logical impossibility (and a nonsense thing to ask) for God to make a rock so big that He can't lift it. And since God always acts in ways that are consistent with His holy nature, His inability to lie or sin does not count against His omnipotence either (Nm 23:19; Ti 1:2; Jms 1:13). The things that are true about His character will always be true, and He cannot do anything to contradict them. FB: This non-question of smug skeptics actually reminds us that we serve a logical, coherent, and all-powerful God. Reason and coherence are hard-wired into the fabric of reality—reflecting the orderly God who created it. Contradictory questions and meaningless word puzzles such as the big rock question implode on themselves and remind us that we will never be able to outsmart the Lord. Nothing we can do and no question we ask could ever disprove God's omnipotence and perfect power. Discover how Apologetics can fuel your faith at ApologeticsBible.com
